

Digital Pay from FurtherSM

The safer, touchless way to pay for eligible medical expenses

Apple Pay, Google Pay, and Samsung Pay are available for your Further debit card. Take advantage of the security, convenience and added safety of using a digital wallet.

Digital Pay = Security + Convenience

If you have a smart phone, digital payment services such as Apple Pay, Google Pay, or Samsung Pay, can reduce physical contact during the checkout process in stores.

Adding your Further debit card to your digital wallet makes it even easier and safer to pay for qualified medical expenses. Plus, it includes an added level of security as the card number is not stored on your device or shared with merchants.

Faster

Safer

Secure

Leave your card at home and use your digital wallet for a faster, touchless and more secure digital shopping environment.

Digital Wallet Technology

The digital wallet does not store your debit card number on your device. Instead, it assigns a unique identifier to the card. When paying in store or online, your unique identifier is exchanged instead of your card number—keeping your account safe.

How it works

To add your Further debit card to your digital wallet, you'll need to go into your digital wallet settings on your smart device and either scan your card or enter your card number.

To pay for items in a store that accepts digital pay, open your digital wallet, select the Further card, and hold your device near the payment terminal. Many websites also accept digital pay options.

Add your family to digital pay

As an added benefit, your family can now enjoy the increased security and convenience digital pay offers as well. Simply contact Further to request additional debit cards for family members to place in their digital wallets.

Digital Wallet Program

A digital wallet program uses a device-specific number and unique transaction code to make your online and mobile purchases safer and more convenient than ever.

Learn more.

To learn more, talk to a health care spending administration expert at Further - they can provide you with more information.

855-363-2583

hellofurther.com